C-17 Globemaster IIIs Fly Over Cunningham

On Tuesday, January 5th, I received a phone call notifying me that three C-17 cargo planes would be flying over Cunningham on Wednesday afternoon about 12:20. They would be flying above Valley Street coming from the south, heading north. The crews were on a training mission, and they would be flying low over our community. Would I be available to take pictures?

Wednesday, of course, was cold and windy and cloudy. I was at the Catholic church parking lot a bit after noon. Molly Morgan joined me to take video.

The planes flew over about 12:35. I took many pictures, but none were as impressive as the ones folks sent in. The photos on this page were taken or sent in or submitted by Dan Frick, Josh Theis, and Teresa McClendon.

I don't feel I should just put these photos and this bit of rather clandestine information. I visited the United States Air Force website and copied this information from its page on the The McDonnell Douglas/Boeing C-17 Globemaster III

Mission

The C-17 Globemaster III is the most flexible cargo aircraft to enter the airlift force. The C-17 is capable of rapid strategic delivery of troops and all types of cargo to main operating bases or directly to forward bases in the deployment area. The aircraft can perform tactical airlift and airdrop missions and can transport litters and ambulatory patients during aeromedical evacuations. The inherent flexibility and performance of the C-17 force improve the ability of the total airlift system to fulfill the worldwide air mobility requirements of the United States.

The ultimate measure of airlift effectiveness is the ability to rapidly project and sustain an effective combat force close to a potential battle area. Threats to U.S. interests have changed in recent years, and the size and weight of U.S.-mechanized firepower and equipment have grown in response to improved capabilities of potential adversaries. This trend has significantly increased air mobility requirements, particularly in the area of large or heavy outsize cargo. As a result, newer and more flexible airlift aircraft are needed to meet potential armed contingencies, peacekeeping or humanitarian missions worldwide. The C-17 is capable of meeting today's demanding airlift missions.

Features

Reliability and maintainability are two outstanding benefits of the C-17 system. Current operational requirements impose demanding reliability and maintainability. These requirements include an aircraft mission completion success probability rate of 92 percent, only 20 aircraft maintenance man-hours per flying hour, and full and partial mission availability rates of 74.7 and 82.5 percent, respectively. January 19- The high school basketball team won third place in the annual Ninnescah League Tournament, held last week at Arlington.

For the third straight year, Alden and Sylvia battled for first place, with Alden winning the tournament championship by a score of 50 to 29. In the battle for third place, Cunningham outlasted Preston, 71 to 59.

Cunningham jumped off to a 16-12 advantage at the end of the first period, but held only a one-point edge at half-time, 33 to 32, and at the end of three periods, 52 to 51. A 19-point splurge in the final quarter iced the game for Cunningham.

Bobby Meyers was on a hot shooting streak, racking up 28 points. Bobby scored 17 of the 19 points counted by Cunningham in the third quarter. Marshall Swander and Eugene Huston each scored 15 points.

Cunningham came within a couple of seconds of playing for first place in the tournament in their semi-final game with Alden the previous night. Alden's ace athlete, Gordon Stout, sank a last-second last-chance shot from back-court to give a 47-45 victory. It was the second time in the entire game that Alden had the lead as Cunningham nursed a small advantage of never more than five points throughout 31 minutes and 56 seconds of the game.

The Wildcats led 10-6, 18-15, and 33-30 at the quarter marks. Jerry Pelzl with 17 points, Bobby Meyers with 16, and Eugene Huston with 13 paced the Cunningham scoring attack.

She displayed pictures from the new Norman Rockwell book. Many members had favorites they remembered from former issues of the Post.

Mrs. Vera Watkins was in charge of Club Betterment, with notes of interest from Kansas, and the nutritional values of dry cereals.

The hostess, Mrs. Hendricks, served delicious refreshments to Mrs. O. R. Benningfield of Kingman, Mrs. Loren Cooley, Mrs. Dafforn, Mrs. Hellar, Mrs. Iona Shafer, Mrs. Pauline Leiter, Mrs. Orville Shelman, Mrs. Pearl Walker, Mrs. D.E. Thompson, and Mrs. Watkins.

The Cunningham girls were led by Marlene Oller, Karla Rohr, and Kathy Johnston with 6, 4, and 2 points, respectively. The girl's defense, in the closely fought game, was led by Barbara Hansen, Debbie Schrant, and Patricia Eskew.

The Cunningham "A" boys broke their game wide open by out-scoring St. Leo 20 to 3 in the third quarter, after leading only 14 to 12 at half-time. Lloyd Bishop led the Cunningham cause with 16 points. He was followed by Greg DeWeese with 10, Greg Kitson and Steve Webster with 5, Kirk Huhman with 4, and John Spade with 2.

Kathy Johnston and Karla Rohr, Reporters

Meanderings

I recently read a book from the 'Dear America' series titled A Time for Courage: The Suffragette Diary of Kathleen Bowen: Washington, D.C. 1917 by Kathryn Lasky.

The book is written for a ten-years-old and up audience. I still, as an adult, found it pretty hard to put down.

The book is a fictional account of the women's suffrage movement in Washington, D.C. while Woodrow Wilson was president. A young girl, Kathleen Bowen is 13 years old and in the 8th grade when the story opens. She has one sister away at college, the other is in high school. Like their mother, they are all independent and thoughtful girls. Mrs. Bowen joins the suffrage movement and marches on the White House. Her husband, a doctor, completely approves and supports her in this effort.

I do believe history books have not given this effort as much attention as it warrants. The women marched every single day for months; they marched in rain and snow and bitter cold. They carried placards and marched peacefully. They were attacked by men from the Army and Navy, shot at, beaten, jailed without hearings, denied lawyers and the most basic civil rights.

In the story, Kathleen's father worked hard to get the women (including his wife) declared political prisoners while they were imprisoned so they could be afforded rights not given to common criminals.

I read the horrific stories of that time. I thought of the women marching for their right to vote, dying in jails, and worrying about their husbands and sons fighting in Europe. I can't imagine the hardships they must have faced. Especially those women who were part of the effort against the wishes of their husbands and fathers.

This part of our American history should be taught in our schools and time spent talking about it. How American citizens were denied so much and really asked for so little.

In elections today, women vote more than men, no doubt it is because they don't take this right for granted. They know how hard their grandmothers and great-grandmothers worked for it.

In the 2016 election (this is the newest information I was able to find from thoughtco.com) 63.3% of women and 59.3% of men voted. That is 73.7 million women and 63.8 million men—a difference of 9.9 million votes. Ladies (and gentlemen) that is a lot of votes. Ladies, we do weld a great deal of power in those booths.

HOWEVER, I read several stories from reporters who found there are still women who are not allowed to vote or even talk to canvassers -- as per their husband's or partner's instructions. I know I saw a comment somewhere...social media? Maybe? That mentioned some state recently changed their voting laws to disallow husbands in the voting booths with their wives. Wow! Seriously? I hope that was 'fake news'.

I hope we push and prod our daughters to get out there and register and vote. It is so important for us to be heard. It is apparent more women are becoming involved in politics. Women are being elected at all levels of government and on 'both sides of the aisle.'

I don't remember when I registered to vote. I do remember the first time I voted was for Ronald Reagan. 1980? Yes. Wow. 40 years ago? Really? I must be figuring that wrong. Surely I am. Math skills must be on the fritz.

Now, I suppose I should update you all on my back situation. AUGH! So much pain! I received a call this afternoon (Tuesday) that insurance has determined I can have the necessary surgery to remove the cyst AND fuse the vertebrae. I almost cried from relief. Finally, finally, finally it is going to happen.

Oh, of course, the doctor's office didn't call to schedule, they just called to tell me we have the 'seal of approval'. Someone will call me tomorrow or Thursday to determine a date. I don't know how this is all going to play out with the paper.

Back surgery shouldn't be a problem with me just sitting here in my chair at the computer and putting it together. The problems come when I need to go somewhere to take photos, which isn't often because I have so many people who are great about sending them in.

Going to Hutch to get the papers will be a problem, but I think I have someone lined up for that. And probably mailing them as I won't be able to life the bundles/stacks.

I know I can make this work with a minimum of interruption for you. If you are late getting a paper, you will know why.

4-H Helping Youth Build Record-Keeping Skills

Kansas moves to updating progress as activities occur

MANHATTAN, Kan. – It has been said that, often, the devil is in the details.

Kansas 4-H youth development specialist Amy Sollock figures that's likely apropos for keeping track of activities, accomplishments and other day-to-day parts of living.

"Record-keeping isn't necessarily anyone's favorite life skill, but it's a necessary one," Sollock said. "If done right, it can be pretty painless and quite astounding to look back on all that you've accomplished."

For the more than 70,000 Kansas youth who annually participate in 4-H, record-keeping is required as part of membership in the state's largest youth organization. Each year, those youth track such things as the projects they're involved in, what they've accomplished and what they've learned.

"Families are so busy, and so we've seen a trend over the last decade in which these forms are done in retrospect; in other words, the youth fill out and complete the forms right before they're due," Sollock said.

"We want to reverse that so that kids record and write notes as they participate in activities throughout the year."

She added that Kansas 4-H has launched a new record-keeping form for the 2020/2021 4-H program year – known as the Kansas 4-H Project Report Form – online.

"We usually sell ourselves short when we try to go off our memory. We are encouraging whatever system works for each family so that the youth is not sitting down in August and September and trying to remember everything that they've done the previous 12 months."

"I encourage 4-H families to find a system that works for them," Sollock said. "Some families keep notes on a smart device to add to the forms later. Some print out the forms and keep a pencil and paper copy. And others write notes on a calendar that's on a magnet on the refrigerator."

As in many parts of life, keeping yearly records will be a permanent memory for youth and perhaps boost their future careers, according to Sollock.

"We know that these are valuable life skills that kids are learning throughout the 4-H process," she said. "For those who advance through the program and have those documents in high school, it can often help them when they're applying for college or for a job. We hear over and over again how valuable these records are.

"It's true that keeping records is not most people's favorite thing to do, but it is important to learn how to record things, keep them organized and then be able to look back on them."

Cunningham Can't Hang on in the Fourth Quarter

Foul trouble, poor free throw shooting and 21 turnovers were the story lines for the game between the Wildcats of Cunningham and the Kinsley Coyotes. Cunningham was out-scored in the fourth quarter 24 to 8 to gain the Coyotes a 54 to 39 victory.

Kinsley jumped out to a 5 to 0 lead in the first quarter before a three-point basket by Luke McGuire righted the ship and the Cats took a 9 to 8 lead into the second quarter. Erik Paris added five points and Isaiah Reed scored on a free throw.

Cunningham was able to maintain the lead throughout the second quarter but was not able to pull away from the Coyotes. Kinsley finished the half with a last second basket to pull back to within one point. The halftime score was Cunningham 19, Kinsley 18. McGuire had five points, Paris scored two points and Reed added three points. The Cats were 1 for 8 from the free throw line in that quarter.

Cunningham lost the lead for much of the third quarter but were able to catch back up with Reed making a last second shot to put the Cats back up one point heading into the fourth quarter. Lane Halderson came alive coming back from an ankle injury suffered in the Macksville game scoring five points. Reed scored four points, McGuire added two points and Paris made a free throw. The score was 31 to 30 entering the fourth quarter.

Cunningham managed eight points for the fourth quarter. McGuire scored four points, Kory Morgan added two points and Halderson and Reed each made a free throw. The Cats hung in there for a few minutes but the fouls started mounting forcing Cunningham to play a zone defense giving Kinsley too many open shots which they took full advantage of scoring 24 points.

The final Score was Cunningham 39, Kinsley 54.

we made Christmas door decorations for Hilltop Manor. After the party we had our meeting. Roll Call was "What is your middle name?" Lady Cats Trap Coyotes

The Cunningham girls kicked off 2021 in fine fashion by overwhelming the Kinsley squad 59-19. In our best display of man-to-man defense this season, the girls carried out my message to make them uncomfortable as we denied passes and played aggressively. Unfortunately, we got in to a bit of foul trouble as the game was called tight at the outset, so we backed off the man-to-man defense in favor of a zone. We earned an 18-5 first quarter lead but at the expense of having three starters tagged with 2 fouls apiece. With substitutes in play, we were rough around the edges and failed to score in the first 4 minutes of the second frame. However, the insertion of the starters paid quick dividends as we rattled off 16 points in the final 4 minutes of the second quarter to recover our momentum heading into half-time leading 34-9. We showed our potential as the second quarter opened by making good on 4 of 5 3-point attempts and dumping in 24 points while allowing just 3. The 4th quarter would disappear in a hurry with the running clock as the Lady Cats notched win #7 against just one loss. We scored 1.03 points per possession to support our offensive efficiency. I have been mildly disappointed with our transition game this season. My team is fast but underperforming in transition so this week we emphasized quick outlet passes and advancing the ball via the pass. Finally, in this game, we pushed and in turn earned a 18-0 advantage in transition points. I was also pleased that we scored 31 points off turnovers while our turnovers led to just 7 Kinsley points. We shot 44% from the floor while putting up 50 shots (38% from long range) and were a respectable 60% from the charity strip one 9 of 15. This is a team that can get scoring from lots of places, and that's certainly a strength of this team. Morgan led the way in scoring with 19, but others adding to the column were Reese McGuire (11), Maddi McGuire (8), Maddi Panek (7), Taylor Schultz (7), Alayna McGuire (6), and Amanda Lohrke (1). I'll take that any day! Maddi snagged 10 rebounds on this night to pace us, but Madie grabbed 7 while Hannah Ellis continues to impress and had 4 rebounds in somewhat limited minutes. Morgan led us in steals with 6 while Madie contributed 5. Morgan had 7 of the team's 14 assists as Alayna and Reese each dished out 2.

We are now finished with non-league play and face Burrton next Tuesday in HOPL action.

warranty assures these figures will be met.

The C-17 measures 174 feet long (53 meters) with a wingspan of 169 feet, 10 inches (51.75 meters). The aircraft is powered by four Pratt & Whitney F117-PW-100 turbofan engines, which are based on the commercial Pratt and Whitney PW2040 used on the Boeing 757. Each engine is rated at 40,440 pounds of thrust and includes thrust reversers that direct the flow of air upward and forward to avoid ingestion of dust and debris. Additionally, thrust reversers provide enough thrust to reverse the aircraft while taxiing backwards and create in-flight drag for maximum rate descents. The design characteristics give it the capability to operate into and out of short runways and austere airfields carrying large payloads. Maximum use has been made of commercial off-the-shelf equipment, including

Air Force-standardized avionics.

The aircraft is operated by a crew of three (pilot, co-pilot and loadmaster), reducing manpower requirements, risk exposure and long-term operating costs. Cargo is loaded onto the C-17 through a large aft ramp and door system that accommodates virtually all of the Army's air-transportable equipment such as a 69-ton M1 Abrams main battle tank, armored vehicles, trucks and trailers. Additionally, the cargo floor has rollers that can be flipped from a flat floor to accommodate wheeled or tracked vehicles to rollerized conveyers to accommodate palletized cargo. The C-17 is designed to airdrop 102 paratroopers with their accompanying equipment.

Maximum payload capacity of the C-17 is 170,900 pounds (77,519 kilograms), and its maximum gross take-off weight is 585,000 pounds (265,352 kilograms). With a payload of 164,900 pounds (74,797 kilograms) and an initial cruise altitude of 28,000 feet (8,534 meters), the C-17 has an unrefueled range of approximately 2,400 nautical miles. Its cruise speed is approximately 450 knots (.74 Mach).

The design of the aircraft (high-lift wing, slats, and externally blown flaps) allows it to operate through small, austere airfields. The C-17 can take off and land on runways as short as 3,500 feet (1,064 meters) and only 90 feet wide (27.4 meters). Even on such narrow runways, the C-17 can turn around using a three-point star turn and its backing capability.

Background

The C-17 made its maiden flight on Sept. 15, 1991, and the first production model was delivered to Charleston Air Force Base, now identified as Joint Base Charleston, S.C., on June 14, 1993. The first squadron of C-17s, the 17th Airlift Squadron, was declared operationally ready Jan. 17, 1995. The Air Force originally programmed to buy 120 C-17s. Due to the unrivaled success of the C-17 to accomplish various mobility missions, additional aircraft were acquired, resulting in a final fleet of 223 aircraft.

The C-17 is operated by Air Mobility Command from Travis AFB, Calif.; Dover AFB, Delaware. Joint Base Lewis-McChord, Wash.; Joint Base Charleston, S.C., and Joint Base McGuire-Dix-Lakehurst, N.J.

Pacific Air Forces operates C-17s from Joint Base Elmendorf-Richardson, Alaska, and Joint Base Pearl Harbor-Hickam, Hawaii.

The Air National Guard operates C-17s from Jackson, Miss., Stewart ANG Base, N.Y., Memphis, Tenn., Martinsburg, W.Va., Charlotte, N.C.

The Air Force Reserve Command operates C-17s at March Air Reserve Base, Calif., and Wright Patterson AFB, Ohio.

Air Force Materiel Command has one C-17 on loan from JB Charleston, S.C., to conduct tests at Edwards AFB, Calif.

Air Education and Training Command performs C-17 aircrew training from Altus AFB, Okla.

Rosanne Sullivan

Andover - Rosanne Sullivan (87) died peacefully in her sleep on Friday, January 8, 2021 after a lengthy battle with various health issues. A recent heart attack on October 5, 2020 left her weak in physical strength but still strong of character as she attempted rehab and recovery. She had been living in Andover, Kansas (intermittently with family) for several years ... periodically returning to her quaint little home in Cunningham, Kansas during the "good times".

When in Andover, the family dog "Balto" (a very large Husky/Malamute mix) would visit her bedside, at the end of each day, to do his part in lifting her spirits. While doctors saved her life after the significant heart attack, the toll this time was simply too much for her to conquer.

Rosanne was a retired federal employee working for the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service (ASCS) in Pratt, Kansas and Coldwater, Kansas for a total of 35 years. She had often shared the following comment ... "The hardest part of this job is telling area farmers that the rules have changed, with this new administration, so you must NOW follow these 'NEW rules' ... and do it immediately!" Rosanne was short in stature but "tall in voice" and played the roles of spark-plug, comforter and "cheerleader" ... whether she was dealing with a burly farmer, a struggling churchgoer or an obstinate son. Regardless of the situation she usually found a way to make things "right".

Rosanne was previously active in church, book club, The Cunningham Library, BPW and had served as a Lay Minister. Her early years found her teaching Sunday School, writing and coordinating church plays and running carnivals to raise money for needy children. She was a fanatical fan of The Cunningham Wildcats, Goddard Athletics, Maize South Athletics and above all "The Kansas Jayhawks"! She was a writer of humorous year end Christmas letters, a fantastic cook (for church, home or special events) and above all else ... A single mom with the heart of a lion! Those who truly knew Rosanne will miss her dearly!

She is survived by her son, Douglas (Sally) Sullivan of Andover; grandson C. Bryan (Dawn) Sullivan and great-grandchildren Max, Jaxon, Tristen and Christopher of Wichita; grandson Kevin D. (Saxony) Sullivan and great-grandchildren Leighton, Charleigh, Owen and Sloan of Overland Park; granddaughter, Hannah (Eric) Richardson and great-grandchildren Easton and Carter of Greenville, TX.

Rosanne is preceded in death by her parents Charles and Martha Boen; sisters Patricia Harvey and Frieda Turpen and brother Creighton Boen.

A private graveside service will be held at Maud Cemetery, Cunningham.

Memorials may be made to Vernon Filley Art Muesum in care of Larrison Mortuary, 300 Country Club Road, Pratt. Online condolences may be made at www.larrisonmortuary.com

On Sept. 26, 1959, he married Geraldine Ariaz at Artesia, Calif. Other survivors include four sons, John, Kevin, Tim and Ryan; brothers Bob and Raymond; sisters Joan Kangiesser and Marie Taylor; 8 grandchildren; and 6 great-grandchildren.
