an unprecedented event,” said Steve Epperson, Southern Pioneer Electric’s CEO. “There were several factors at play that compounded the effects this storm had on Southern Pioneer Electric.”

During the week of February 15, utilities across the region experienced a significant increase in energy demand as a result of the frigid temperatures. This increased demand, coupled with severe constraints on available generation resources, caused wholesale power market prices to skyrocket. Meanderings

Clarence, my red-neck dog, woke me the other night around 2:00. He indicated he HAD to go outside. I do believe he WANTED to go out...he is such a Gladys Kravitz about everything that goes on in the neighborhood.

Case in point: One night it was pouring rain. About 2:00 a.m. he indicated he HAD to go out. I unlocked the pet door. He stuck his nose out and turned around and jumped back into bed. Didn't indicate he had to go out until about 8:00 in the morning when the rain had all but stopped.

Well, this night, of my beginning story, I got up and let him out. Chloe decided she liked the warm bed, and she was staying put. Smart dog, Chloe.

While I was waiting for Clarence to do his yard patrol, I came up with an idea for a meanderings column. I thought it was a pretty good idea.

I woke up the next morning and thought about my great idea, and I couldn't remember it.

I went through all the motions of the night before, opening the pet door, sitting on the edge of the bed, staring at the space heater, petting Eleanor the pillow cat... nothing came to me. Nothing. I could not and can not for the life of me remember my great idea.

So now I am a tad bit frustrated.

I did read a short series of books this last week. The series is written by Kerry Madden. The books are for readers 9 years and up. The stories are set in the Appalachian Mountains of North Carolina and the voice of the young storyteller rings true of the region.

The melodic, almost poetic language of the region makes me wish I had grown up there.

The protagonist is Livy Two Weems. She's a 12-year-old young lady who writes about her life with her parents and her 9 siblings. She does have a fine way of describing things and events in her life.

In the first book, "Gentle's Holler" she says this: "We seen Mr. Clemente at an exhibition game in Greenville when we was visiting Mama's kin. (We seen) Miss Patsy Cline at the Buncombe County fair while visiting Daddy's kin, and she's got a voice to soothe your head and make your heart hope." Isn't that wonderful? And absolutely true about Patsy Cline.

She goes on to say 'we listened to Patsy sing a spell on the Grand Ole Opry House on our old Philco radio.

At the end of the first book, Mr. Weems, a songwriter and banjo player, is injured in a car accident. He spends the remainder of the book and most of the next book, ("Louisiana's Song") in the hospital. In the last novel, "Jessie's Mountain" he's recovering from his head injury, but it's still a struggle for the family. All works out in the end, though.

I sure enjoyed these stories. If I was still teaching, I would be shoving them into the hands of many young readers.

After reading something so sweet and uplifting, I switched over to a Nancy Grace murder/mystery series of two books. Serial killer murder mysteries are not my favorite mystery books... because usually the author tells you ahead of time who the serial killer is and they get inside their head and tell the reader all the horrific thoughts bombarding their brains, which is somewhat disturbing.

I can't remember reading too many serial killer books where the author leaves the reader in suspense until the end of the book. I guess they aren't really mysteries but thrillers or suspense.

I'd prefer a good mystery.

I also read the book "King George, What was His Problem? (everything your schoolbooks didn't tell you about the American Revolution)" by Steve Sheinkin. This, too, is a book for young readers. Illustrations by Tim Robinson helped tell the story of our Independence. Sheinkin tells us about some of the shenanigans that went on during this period of history.

I did learn a few things about war for independence:

I better understood Benedict Arnold's place in the Revolution. I knew he was a traitor, but I didn't realize it involved a young lady named Peggy Shippin, who became Mrs. Benedict Arnold. Very interesting that bit of information.

John Paul Jones ("I have not yet begun to fight") He was also a pirate. Oh, wait, a privateer and the most feared captain in the American navy. He was man of short stature with a gentle demeanor. Upon meeting him, Abigail Adams said, "I should sooner think of wrapping him up in cotton wool and putting him in my pocket, than sending him to contend with cannonballs"

Nathan Hale of "I only regret that I have one life to lose for my country" was a twenty-two-year-old schoolteacher who was caught on nine days into his first spy mission for General Washington. He was caught and hung the next morning.

Alumni Banquet Cancelled

This year's scheduled Cunningham Alumni Banquet is cancelled due to several factors. One being that no one contacted Leanne or me to say they would volunteer to serve on a committee or help. We have had family and/or health issues that made it impossible to do this on our own. This event really requires months of planning, and that wasn't happening because of the uncertainty surrounding the pandemic.

We will plan on one next year....if we can get more people to volunteer.

Absolutely one of the easiest volunteer jobs is to update your class lists and notify us of classmates or relations who have moved or passed away.

When one or two people go through the lists it takes months.... if someone from every class would take on the honors, it would take only hours.

Also, present, Tyson Eisenhower, county counselor, Lori Voss, county clerk and Mark Graber, IT Director. Also, present Michael Inslee and Linda Hoeme.

All bids were opened and read aloud by the board of county commissioners of Pratt County, Kansas, with a bid of $2,500.00 made by Michael and Jennifer Inslee, being the highest cash bid received and accepted. She explained that the SPARK grant process is closing out and the state continues to issue new guidance. Specifically ensuring the funds were in a non- interest-bearing account, purchasing policies, and asset management requirements were mentioned. She also explained that Congress has now passed the American Rescue Plan which awards state and local governments COVID-19 relief funds. It is expected that the state of Kansas will receive $1.5 billion, including $143 million for capital projects. Pratt county is expected to receive $1.7 million with the cities in Pratt County being expected to receive the following: Pratt-$910,000, coats-$10,000, Iuka- $20,000, Sawyer- $20,000, and Preston- $20,000. Rules about these funds won’t be available for some time and she stated she will keep the commission posted and will also be talking to each city when more information is known. She also mentioned that there was a provision in the federal law that prohibited tax cuts or credits if using these funds. These provisions are also unfolding and the commission will be updated when more is known in the days ahead. Other provisions of the American recovery plan which will assist Pratt County businesses include additional PPP fund and a restaurant revitalization grant program. Finally, a state legislative update was provided which included the state of Kansas trying to purchase a stretch of land near the Kingman/Pratt county line to allow for float trips on the Ninnescah river which could promote agri-tourism. A bill which would provide counties more choice in terms of how they use their COVID-19 vaccine, a bill which would provide hazard pay for certain workers throughout the COVID-19 pandemic, a bill which evens the playing field for local merchants requiring online sellers to charge sales tax, and SB 13 which is a property tax transparency bill which is on the governor’s desk awaiting signature which would require the county clerk and all taxing entities to do certain things if the taxing entity collected one additional dollar over what they collected last year. ## Brighthouse Names New Executive Director

The Board of Directors of Brighthouse are pleased to announce the appointment of Sue Wray to the position of Executive Director. Wray joins the organization at the end of March The current E.D., Donna Davis, will retire in the first week of May.

Wray most recently has been with Hutchinson Regional Healthcare System, where she served in a dual communications and Hutchinson Regional Medical Foundation role. A Hutchinson native, Wray worked as a reporter in broadcast media in cities such as Houston, Austin and Nashville. Following her career in broadcast, Wray began working in communications, including a stint as Communications Director for the Muhammad Ali Center in Louisville and a decade at an advertising agency there. She returned to Hutchinson in 2014 to be closer to family.

"I am excited to get the opportunity to work with the staff at Brighthouse on a mission that is so important. Donna has done a great job in structuring the program so it can serve more of the community's needs, and I want to build on that work. Our vision is to make the agency unnecessary by eliminating abuse. I can't imagine more meaningful work," says Wray.

Davis is grateful to the Hutchinson Community Foundation for providing a grant to BrightHouse to provide time for the new and former ED to work together. "Thanks to this grant from the Fund for Hutchinson, Sue and I will have time to share valuable resources, connections, and information before I leave BrightHouse. Sue will then keep the pieces of the puzzle of non-profit leadership together through the transition, and BrightHouse will continue to provide quality services to victims of sexual and domestic violence in our community."

Sara Alexander, president of the BrightHouse Board of Directors remarked, "We are excited to welcome Sue and anticipate a smooth transition due to the generosity of the Hutchinson Community foundation. I am really looking forward to how we can continue growing our organization and serving our community with Sue's help."

Brighthouse currently serves Reno, Rice, Kingman and Harper counties, and was established in 1976 as a hotline service for victims of domestic or sexual abuse, human trafficking and stalking. Brighthouse provides a 24-hour Crisis Line (620-663-2522), an emergency shelter, safety planning, legal advocacy, supervised parenting time and links to community services.

To learn more about Brighthouse, or to donate to help end abuse, go to BrightHouseKS.org or follow us on Facebook.
